

OCEAN VIEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH NOVEMBER 2020

FROM THE PASTOR
TERRY DOUGHERTY

A morning prayer

Fr. Ignacio Larranaga, SJ - Translated by Fr. Mark Stengel

Lord, in the silence of this day that is now beginning, I come to ask you for peace, wisdom and strength. Today I want to look upon the world with eyes full of love; to be patient, understanding, humble, calm and good. Today I want to see beyond the appearances of your children, to see them as you yourself see them, and so to be able to appreciate the goodness of each person.

Close my ears to all murmuring; guard my tongue from evil speech, so that only those thoughts that bless may remain to me. Today, I want to be so well-intentioned and just that all those who approach me may feel your presence. Clothe me with your goodness, Lord, and grant that during this day, I may reflect you. Amen.

Greetings, sisters and brothers in Christ, grace and peace to you!

Here is a poem by Seamus Heaney, from his collection Electric Light, p. 65, The Bridge:

Steady under strain and strong through tension,

Its feet on both sides but in neither camp,

It stands its ground, a span of pure attention,

A holding action, the arches and the ramp

Steady under strain and strong through tension.

The more you look at this perfect little poem, the more there is there. Balance describing balance, two rhymed spans on three rhymed footings, a solidity floating ethereally. Heaney, as I may have mentioned, is my favorite poet; I will boast that I have a signed, presentation copy of one of his books (and no, actually, you can't borrow it...).

But I chose this poem for another of its internal meanings – there is a before, and an after, whatever the pass or challenge or crisis of life. Right now, the crisis inflating our anxiety as individuals and as a nation is the election. And all I want to say about it as your pastor is that it is so much like so many of the crises pastors get invited into: deaths and illnesses, strife and loss, fear and rejoicing. There is a before, and an after; messiness anticipated, then messiness to deal with and settle. The people we knew in these passes will largely be the people we know, and will continue to know. And most, if not all of them, will not have changed (whether we wanted that or not), and likely will not change.

Part of the context of the election we should not ignore is the interiority the pandemic has imposed on us, because it magnifies our feelings. Anecdotally, all of us are watching more television, and consuming more social media. Either of those, or both together, I cannot stress enough can be deeply unhealthy. Information is good; the intersection of information and opinion too often is not. Take proper care of yourselves! Go outside; even better, be together, without moderation or filter or influence. We will be more alright, the less we have to recover from – don't bear self-inflicted wounds; the external ones are plenty. Hear the Irish saying: "wisdom is the comb given one, after one has lost one's hair". Take care now, not later; moderate your feelings – and your tongue! – now, not later. Too often, we cannot get back what we have said or done in haste.

There are ordinary "before"s and "after"s far more important in all of our lives:

Before the baby (or grandbaby), and after.

Before the job (or retirement), and after.

Before the move (or failure to move), and after.

Before s/he died, and after.

Before we had faith, and after.

Before we needed our faith, and after.

Our God knows all these things, and all our needs. Our invitation of God, or a trusted other, inside our need is so much more meaningful, in any ultimate sense, than crazed-ness for any cause. Our God in heaven knows our needs, but let us first seek the kingdom of God, and God's righteousness, trusting all else will be added unto us.

Only love can conquer division, so... Only love.

DEACON'S REPORT

Pam Price

Southern Delaware Education Foundation Deacons' Mission Project for November 2020

The Deacons' Mission Project for November 2020 is to provide financial support to the Southern Delaware Education Foundation.

The purpose of SDEF is to provide scholarships for workforce training and certification to those individuals in Southern Delaware who demonstrate a need for financial assistance. Areas of certification include, but are not limited to environmental, hospitality, business, medical/dental assistants, and early childhood.

The Southern Delaware Education Foundation started in July 2016. Bruce Hobler, from our congregation, is on the Board of the foundation. To date 21 students have graduated in paraprofessional occupations such as nurse's aide and legal aid. Students must provide 25% of the tuition so they have a personal stake in the program. All students are hired upon graduation.

To apply, student candidates must:

- live in Sussex county,
- fall within poverty standards as set by the federal government,
- get school approval for admission,
- have a reasonable expectation of employment or promotion after taking any class or training SDEF funds, and
- exhaust other sources for income, such as grants or scholarships, prior to applying to SDEF.

The success of SDEF and its scholarships depends on donations. Please consider a generous donation to this important mission anytime during the month of November. All offerings received in the November Deacon's Mission for SDEF will be help fund the financial assistance for those in need in Sussex county.

Thank you for your generosity.

A CHANCE TO HELP

Judy Reich

This has been a “crazy” and distressful year! But I hope, even with our restrictions, we can look forward to celebrating the birth of our Savior, remembering that through it all God is still in charge.

In anticipation of Christmas, we will be decorating our two worship settings (Memorial Hall and the Sanctuary) on November 25th at 9am. We are on a rather tight schedule with Thanksgiving service in MH on the 24th and Thanksgiving Day on the 26th and the first day of Advent on Nov. 29th!

If you are interested in helping and haven't already let Judy or Kathy Sheetz know, please just come on that day and we will put you to work!! Thank you in advance.

As the holidays approach, many of us are making difficult decisions regarding travel and family get-togethers. If you are staying in the area during November and December, please consider offering to usher for one of our Sunday morning services. We are working hard to keep our ushers safe in this confusing environment. We need extra help in order to insure the safety of all of our participants. Your help is needed. Please contact Judy so she can schedule your Sunday. And thank you!

MISSION COMMITTEE

Deadline coming for support of our Mission Co-Worker

Please remember Rev. Dr. Karla Koll, our mission co-worker living in San Jose, Costa Rica with your donations. Our congregation, through the Mission Committee with the Session's recommendation, has committed to provide $1,250.00 again this year for the support of Karla Koll and her ministry at the University of Biblical Studies. Karla met with the Mission Committee in September; joined us in worship at OVPC on October 11, and came to our Fellowship Hour, also. She told us about her life and work with Covid 19, that all staff positions at the University have been moved to ½ time, and faculty salaries have been cut by 25% this Fall. Presbyterian World Mission has also cut their budget by 24% this year, so it is clear that our support is necessary. If you have not given to Karla's Ministry, please consider this important work and write a check to OVPC, with Rev. Karla Koll in the memo line. Simply drop your check off in the mail box by the church office or mail it to OVPC, 67 Central Avenue, Ocean View, 19970. All donations must be in by November 30, as the amount is then sent to Presbyterian Mission in Louisville, for distribution. Thank you for your generosity.

Update on "Ignite" Grant Partnership with Westminster Presbyterian Church

The Mission Committee has received word from Mary Vane at Westminster Presbyterian in Wilmington that the check for $18,500 from Ignite has arrived and has been processed and to the Fellowship of Middle East Evangelical Churches. An announcement was made at the last New Castle Presbytery meeting. As mentioned last month, the money will be used to feed 60 families living in the war-torn area for six months. In addition, Wilmington, OVPC, and Beth Shalom Synagogue (another frequent partner with WPC) has donated $4,100 to the Compassion Protestant Society in Beirut, to purchase four $1000 debit cards to assist families who lost their homes in the explosion. Mary asked the Executive Director of CPS, Georges Ziadeh, how they determine which families get the support. He replied, "The families are divided into two categories: 1) families that NESSL and different Protestant churches recommend who need support. That includes 28 families. The second group are assessed by Beirut Forward Operation Room managed by the Lebanese army, the Red Cross, and the civil defense. This group numbers 100 at this time. He hopes to send us pictures of the four families who receive our aid, which will be published in a future newsletter. We are grateful for the opportunity to help our Syrian and Lebanon neighbors.

CROP WALK

Bob Doherty

The 32nd annual S/E. Sussex Co. crop walk was held on Sunday Oct. 18th. at Our Lady of Guadalupe RC. Church's parking.

The weather could not have been better. There were about fifty people who walked, of that eighteen walked on behalf of OVPC, eleven members and seven guests.

Before the walk started there was a brief prayer and after we were entertained by a band from St. Ann's who played soft rock. I really enjoyed listening to it play.

As soon as I have the total for OVPC. and the walks' grand total I will let everyone know. I want to thank all the walkers and everyone who made a donation .

Tech Support Scam Defrauds 'Hundreds of Elderly and Vulnerable Victims'

Authorities called it a large-scale international ring of "ruthless scammers" preying mostly on older Americans. Bad actors pretended to be from tech companies such as Microsoft. They warned consumers of security threats to their computer devices. To fix what were bogus problems, consumers coughed up hundreds of dollars — or thousands — for unneeded technical-support services.

According to the court documents, it worked like this: Pop-up messages falsely styled to appear from well-known tech companies, such as Microsoft or Apple, induced consumers to pay for unneeded tech support. Victims were given a toll-free phone number to reach a live agent so to remedy the bogus problem; that person would be in an Indian call center and ask for permission to access the computer device remotely to "diagnose" the purported issue.

SHARING PANTRY

Kathy Sheetz
Nearing Completion

As you can see, The "Sharing Pantry " is almost complete and will be ready for items to stock it soon. The Princeton Support Team is funding this endeavor and providing only the initial amount of money for the pantry. We need our congregation to help with providing for food - insecure folks of our community by donating the following items and bringing them to the church and placing them in a plastic container at the door of FC under the breezeway near MH. The following list is what we need: canned soup, canned tuna, canned fruit, and baked beans, applesauce, Mac & Cheese boxes, jello, pasta, Spaghetti sauce, small boxes of cereal, rice, peanut butter and jelly, Protein bars, paper towels and bottles of water. As we go along we'll see which items are more popular than others, and perhaps amend the list. Thank you for providing these needed articles as we put to practice what it means to be a Matthew 25 church!
